Gen. Hershey says:

'If You Want to Stay a Student, Be One'

Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey recently advised college students who want to avoid the draft, "Study. If you want to stay a student, be one."

This is a capsule warning how MiraCosta students can stay in college.

If the Viet Nam manpower pinch gets any worse, the Selective Service may start drafting college students and college students with poor grades and/or fifth semester status should take heed, Hershey warns.

A draft spokesman said students now are deferred if their colleges certify they are studying full time and are satisfactory both academically and in obeying the institution's rules.

"Because 82% of California high school graduates flock to college, only 15% remain to fill the State's quotas," Mrs. Kilbourne said, and this is not satisfactory to the Selective Service board upon their request.

A full-time student who receives a satisfactory transcript must keep his status in college.

If he withdraws from courses in which the transcript is satisfactory, he must withdraw from college for a draft examination.

Hershey warns, "If transcripts of unacceptable status are sent to the Selective Service, and they are withdrawn from the college, only 18% remain after 1 year. Students will, of course, be considered along with others, but how far we will have to go in taking in conscientious objectors has not been decided. It depends on manpower needs."

Hershey said no plans for too great a draft drain suching a test would be unfair in a specialized world.

North-County Rivals

Spartans Gird For Comet Invasion; Matmen Ready

The season's first basketball games will put a Pacific Southwest wrestling match that opens hostilities at 4 p.m.

The Spartans' rugged team hosts Comet College Wednesday while the Comets were edged by Grossmont - - - the same night. The two north-county rivals will be playing to keep out of the conference cellar.

The Spartans have a better shot at record than Palomar, but not much better. MCC has posted a 1-1 mark for the season while Palomar has managed only one win in 15 outings.

In the Palomar tournament MiraCosta whipped the Comets 79-65 in a battle for eleventh place. In that contest Baptist freshman Tom Fleming tossed in 27 points to spark the win.

If the Palomar defeat is led in the game by the scoring combination of guards Bill Brown and Fleming, Palomar will average better than 16 points a game with Brown posting a 17.6 average and Fleming a 16.6 mark.

Both Brown and Fleming are well on the way to becoming the highest point producers ever enrolled at MiraCosta. Brown has tallied 500 points in 12 games while Fleming has netted 228 in 14 outings.

The two Freshmen guards rank 11th and 12th for most points scored in a season by a Spartan hooper and each should advance in the rankings with 13 games left in the season.

Almost out of reach, though, is the single season scoring record of 705 points set by Noma Dozier in 1963.

Also scoring well for the Spartans this year is Bill Brown at 35 tallies; Arne Larsen, 112 points and Bruce Huntington, 91.

Palm Beach, Fla., high school leading rebounder, averaging better than 10 grabs a game.

Palm Beach was led by All-Pac Southwest Conference forward Chris Stanley. The 6-4 sophomore is the leading rebounder in the PSC, pulling down 18 a game.

The Spartans are slight favorites to win on their home court, but anything can happen when bitter rivals MiraCosta College and Palomar College clash head-on in the Spartan gym at 8:15 p.m.

Modern Art Exhibits

"Contemporary Trends" is the theme of avant garde art on display at Crummly Gallery in the Student Center.

Contributions include a large portrait of Ringo Starr by John Dawson, who recently had one of his works at Grossmont College in San Diego. Contributions by Robert Sheets, and three oils by Jane Fletcher.

The dance is sponsored by the Forensic Association.

College Church, Spartan Group Score Yule Assembly Success

An outstanding Christmas Assembly before an appreciative audience in the new College Library elminated pre-Christmas activities at MiraCosta College on Dec. 19.

Special hostesses for the hour-long program of music, refreshments and fellowship were Sandi Smith, Rosie Rodriguez, Elona Gastehelal, Pat Poupet, Maureen Seiler, Shelly Shaffer, Maggie Baker, and Vicki Floyd.

Highlighting the program was Christmas music presented by the College Chorus and Spartans Singers under the direction of Dr. Keith L. Brown.

Sandi Smith, ASB assembly chairman, Dr. Ann A. Smith, coordinator of women's activities, and Andie Shearer, president of Palomar's Psychology Club, gave a reading from the 'Gospel of John.'

Later, a choir of Spartan faculty and a string quartet performed, "Silent Night.

Motorbikes Give Rider Freedom

By Tom Burns

Prompted by an abundance of motorbikes adorning campus parking lots, MiraCosta must be interested why these two-wheeled cars get such a charge scotching along California roadways at manic speeds sans seat belts or padded dash boards.

Many answers to your reporter’s quest better gas mileage.” “There’s no parking problem.” “My girl really digs it.”

But these superficial answers were given with a lot of vacillation. For there must be some deep underlying symbolism. A sort of two-wheeled rebellion.

So to cover the assignment in depth, two students interviewed for this column seemed to be interested. But soon came a subtle transition and the question we sought was unanswered.

To be able to ride into a sunset and feel a part of it. . . . To ride without a care is to experience a feeling of freedom, a feeling because a young person yearns and pur- chased a motorcycle. First came a period of adjustment where the student became something of an outcast. But soon came a subtle transition and the question we sought was answered.

Theatre of Absurd

Gains Success Bill

Theatre of the Absurd, modern drama’s latest offspring, may have been a bit too0 sophisticated to prove to be both highly enjoyable and somewhat confusing.

The evening was the result of the combined efforts of students in the acting and production classes beginning five weeks earlier with the initial casting. Actors, director Tom Burns, Louis Carlson, Derrel Goyette, and Jack Wilday, so carefully selected the plays.

The authors – Harold Pinter and Edward Albee – are currently the two most significant playwrights of the last decade.

Pinter is best known for his screenplays, “The Caretaker,” and “The Birthday Party,” while Albee’s greatest success is “Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf.”

While casting for the one-act plays took place within the acting class, the production class began work on a student-designed set functional for all three plays. Christmas vacation was any-thing but vacation for students involved, although some of the smaller plays were tied down as sketches.

But what happened? What was going on? What was the audience meant to be doing? Many people were heard to say that they enjoyed the evening with a certain amount of satisfaction as to the hidden meaning of the plays. Critics agree the audience must be intellectually aware of the intricate web these plays weave.

This seems to be the problem of Theater of the Absurd: the viewer can no longer just lose himself in a world of fantasy and facts. watching is the secret to an understanding of GREEMIE. Vocational Nursing Class Ends Full Year Of Study

Nineteen North County women will graduate tonight as members of the first vocational Nursing class at MiraCosta College. Exercises have been set in the College Little Theater (C-7) at 7:30 p.m.

The student vocational nurses began their training a year ago under provisions of the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962. MiraCosta College was allocated $40,740 to initiate the program in North San Diego County due to its proximity to excellent clinical facilities.

Professor Jennie Lynn Leland, R. N., directs the program. She holds a Masters degree in Nurse Education and was former Director of Nurse Education at Los Angeles State College.

The student vocational nurses studied a total of 1,630 hours. During the year they took instruction in orientation to nursing, medical-surgical nursing, obstetric nursing, pediatric nursing, geriatric nursing, diversional therapy, rehabilitation and psychiatric nursing.

Other facilities used in the program included the Oceanside Community Hospital, Tri-City Hospital, Camp Pendleton Naval Hospital, Casa Blanca Convalescent Home and the San Diego County Public Health Department Center in Oceanside.

The graduation program will feature an address by Dr. Glenn McCaffrey, chief-of-staff, Tri-City Hospital. Dr. John MacDonald, MiraCosta College president, will welcome participants and guests.

Program activities will include the invocation by Dr. Duane A. Walker, Oceanside First Presbyterian Church; pledge of allegiance, Mrs. Barbara Odom, class vice-president; class history, Mrs. Mildred Childs, class prophecy, Mrs. Joan Nelson; class address, Mrs. Frieda Scott, class president; presentation of awards, Mr. S. Ames Pence, Tri-City Hospital administrator.

X-RAY STUDY - "Here is your patient's problem," explains a staff radiologist to vocational nursing students Shirley Waters, Alyce Rhorer and Connie Bramlett.

Spartans Split With Orange Coast; Enter Two Tough Tourneys

By Dennis Bricker

MiraCosta basketballers split a pair of games with Orange Coast College on Dec. 21 and 23, losing on the road 85-66 and winning at home 80-72. The Pirate win on their home floor was led by Dan Johnson with 15, Jim David, 12, and Rich Manesche, 11. Bill Brown and Tom Fleming were tops for the Spartans, scoring 20 and 19 points respectively.

At home it was a different story as the Spartans jumped off to an early lead and hung on to win by an easy 8-point margin. The MCC five had a 26-point lead with five minutes remaining, OCC whittled it down to six with two minutes to go.

A 23-point performance by Brown was high for the contest. Fleming shot 15–17, Bruce Hunting­ton, 17, and Dave Laksi, 12.

In tournament play during vaca­tion, the Spartans defeated Cuesta College, San Luis Obis­po, 92-89 in the opening round of the Antelope Valley Tournament. They dashed old rival Santa Barbara by a slim 82-89 margin in round two of the San Barry Memorial Tournament in Glendale.

Tom Fleming grabbed scoring honors in the Cuesta contest as he tallied 28 points. Arne Lars­son was next with 18, followed by Frank Swaim netting 15.

Fleming again was in the spot­light as his 18 points paced the win over Santa Barbara. Bill Brown and Dave Laksi were next with 17 and 15 points respective­ly.

A loss came at the hands of College of the Sequoias, 81-68 at Antelope Valley. Glendale (103-77) and El Camino (129-95) slammed the Spartans in the tough Barry Classic.

Bill Brown was high point man against Sequoia, netting 28 points. He and Frank Swaim finished second for the Cougars in tournament play during va­cation. Tom Fleming tallied well against El Camino, swishing through 36 points, highest in the Barry tourney.

The Spartan pre-season tour­nament record stands 3-6.

Sparten Groopers Look Good In 28-19 Loss

To Mesa Olympians

MiraCosta College wrestlers suffered their second straight daylight setback Wednesday as they dropped a 28-19 verdict to Mesa College on the latter’s mats Wednesday.

Tom Hanks (160) and Tal Sando (157) were the two Spart­an standouts in what was the best showing yet by MCC grap­plers. Hanks pinned his oppo­nent in a fast 2:05 while Sando pressed his foe in 4:21.

Coach Harry Phillips com­mented on his team’s showing, “This was a tremendous effort by the entire squad. It’s our best effort yet and I’m real proud of all of them.”

Other Spartans gaining the winner’s circle via decisions were George Kyle (115) 6-2, Bryan Richards (130) 6-1, and Jim McClugan (137) 4-0.

The other league defeat was to Grossmont on Wednesday 34-13. George Kyle was the only MCC win­ner.

Sparks Talk

By Dennis Bricker

Chariot Sports Editor

Sparton hoopsters can feel good that their game with the UCLA Freshmen is now his­tory.

The MCC five got into the UCLA fresh record books two years ago as the Bruins chalked up a record 334 points. And the Alcindor-led UCC almost put the Spartans into the records again as they ran up a 133 point total.

In the following evening the Bruinites did surpass the magic 134 mark as they literally trampled Citrus College Decl 152-49. Here’s a few remarks made by one of the Spartans regarding Mr. Alcindor, company, and surroundings:

Q. How many people were there when the game started?

A. About 6,000 plus. When they (MCC and friends) came out to warm up, the applauding and yelling were so great that if a guy was standing next to you, you couldn’t hear him talking.

Q. Fans, you gotta be on hand tomor­row night, we host Palomar College in Spartan Gym. We have had the“warren” on Palomar this year. Come out and see if the magic still works on the Colonies. You know how it’s done, go out and play Palo­mar. See ya there!

Some good basketball is coming up in the next month as the Spartans warm up for PCC Fest. Next Friday MCC hosts Imperial Valley in renewal of basketball wars with the Arabs. The follow­ing night we travel to Chula Vista for our first league game against Southwestern. Then followed:

SDCC, away, Grossmont, away; Pal. Pac., home; SD, Mesa, home; Palomar, away, and USD JV’s at home.
